Wet Leaves Dangerous as Ice on Roads

"Wet leaves can be as dangerous as ice and snow patches!"

This is a warning offered by Captain John deWinter, Director, Division of Traffic and Safety, Maine State Police. He points out that the autumn leaves which are so beautiful on the trees become dangerous on streets and highways.

"These leaves which make our roads greasy and slippery can become a death-trap for the unwary driver," he said. "We should drive over wet leaves as we would drive over ice, slowly and with our cars under control, using our brakes very cautiously. Any speed which makes it necessary to apply brakes suddenly is extremely dangerous, as such action could easily result in a disastrous skid on the greasy road surface."

"This particular driving hazard," he added, "causes a few accidents every fall. Don't be caught off-guard by this seasonal danger."

TO HAVE STATE-WIDE WARNING TESTS OCT. 23 AND OCT. 30

Air-raid sirens and other public warning devices will be sounded in all parts of the State on Friday afternoon, October 23, and then a week later, on Friday, October 30. The public, however, may ignore the signals.

The sirens will be sounded in conjunction with a state-wide test of Maine's Attack Warning System from 1:30 p. m. to 2:00 p. m. on both days, by the State Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency.

The State Civil Defense Control Center in Augusta will flash a test "Red Alert" to Key Point Warning Centers in Portland, Bangor and Houlton at 1:30 p. m. The Key Point Warning Centers will relay the test warning to "A" points—principal cities and towns—who, in turn, will pass the alert to the smaller villages and hamlets.

Approximately one-half hour later, the "White" alert—or "all clear"—will be signalled in the same manner. State CD Director Spaulding Elsbree has asked municipal and Civil Defense officials to sound the appropriate alarms on receipt of the test alert.

The Red Alert is signalled by a series of short blasts on whistles or a three-minute wailing siren; the White Alert—or "all clear"—is a series of three one-minute blasts of whistles and sirens with two minutes of silence between each blast.

The October test alerts will be followed by a "surprise" alert sometime in November.

Time To Switch

For the past 20 years government spending on war and defense preparation has been the major stimulus for the American economy. In those 20 years the government has spent $775 billion, which is 10 times more than the total amount of money in circulation in the entire world. The huge spending made the federal government a tremendous factor in the nation's economic life. It cannot continue indefinitely to play this dominant role without breaking down the economic and political institutions that have made our freedom and prosperity possible.

Forty years ago the federal government spent two per cent of the national income. Twenty years ago it spent ten per cent of the national income. Today it is spending 25 per cent. If the people of America were to permit it, this percentage would go on up, and our economic freedom would be correspondingly restricted. Studies have shown that when taxation goes much beyond 25 per cent all freedom is affected. And history shows that a government will grow constantly to size and power unless the people put on the brakes.

Paralyzing Taxes
In order to get the big money it has been spending in recent years the federal government has had to constantly push up the rate of taxation. It now has pushed tax rates up to as much as 92 per cent to the upper income brackets. The system levies these high rates on business incomes and then turns around and levies heavy taxes on the same money after it has been divided up in dividends to individual stock holders. The most successful businesses must pay out in federal taxes 12 of every 100 of its profits. This is a ridiculous situation.

In the 20 years of big spending, the family breadwinner earning $4,000 a year saw his income taxes jump from $44 to $484 a year. The $23,000 individual income of 20 years ago was taxed $2,000. Today it's taxed $7,500. In the calendar year 1953 President Eisenhower gets $100,000 in salary, and he has an additional income estimated at $100,000 a total of $200,000. His federal income is $90,000.

Study Made
Tax rates such as these put a heavy yoke on ambition and cripple the profit motive that has sparked our nation's progress. They would be permissible for a short time in extreme national emergency, but otherwise they are detrimental to freedom and progress. The U. S. NEWS, one of the 13 news weeklies, has just completed an intensive study of taxes and how they operate to stifle or stimulate the private economy. Here are some significant conclusions:

"Heavy progressive tax rates on income have resulted in diminishing returns in production from all income groups earning $2,000 or more a year in other words, as the rate went up the resulting revenue was proportionately less than the tax collector might have expected."

Investment Is Key
"Tax rates, when reduced," reports the magazine, "have tended to bring an expansion in taxable income and to result in less loss of income than the rate cut might warrant."

"Clearly 'investment is discouraged' by the present tax system. But capitalizing is to work. Investment in stock-bearing enterprises is essential to growth and expansion."

It is true that in the last 20 years American industry has expanded. But the expansion has been stimulated largely by the federal government's huge expenditures on war. We have not seen a war economy longer than to automatically necessary because of the danger of federal government dominance threatening permanent. The expansion should begin at once. As the shift is made private enterprise can expand naturally and voluntarily. If tax rates are cut so that investment for expansion is restored, given normal incentive the private

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

MRS. CLIFFORD SNYDER, 618 E. Fifth Street, N. Manchester, Ind., had never stayed alone in her life until she was married and moved to a small town. They lived in an old house with five outside doors, none of which had a good lock. Her husband was gone two or three nights a week and every night she spent there alone, she set a chair in front of each door with a large pan balanced on the edge. She slept fairly well knowing that anyone trying to enter would wake her.

When they built their own home, they had two outside doors with good locks on each and she felt reasonably secure when alone. The back door stuck and made a terrible noise when opened which also added to her security.

One night she awoke to find her husband standing in her bedroom. He had come in unexpectedly. She sat up in bed and screamed at him. She was so provoked to think he had not only come through the shuddering back door, but had turned lights on, walked through the whole house and even opened the bedroom door and she hadn't heard him. From then on she was really scared.

Every little noise awakened her and her hair stood on end until she could identify it. One night she was awakened by hearing the floor in the hall creaking. She thought someone was tip-toeing outside. A board creaked and she became rigid. Another creaked and she broke out in cold sweat. She waited and waited.

Finally she decided she couldn't remain like that all night. If someone was coming to get her he would just have to come and get her. She reasoned that most burglars enter for the purpose of stealing, that they seldom entered an occupied house. They were more afraid of being caught than she was of catching them. She relaxed and went to sleep.

After facing the facts and realizing that she was reasonably safe, she has not been afraid since.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

So far as domestic problems and issues are concerned, two subjects are being given intense attention now. One is whether or not there is going to be a business recession of substantial proportions. The other is what, if anything, will happen to the tax system and the tax rates.

A high official view on these and other matters was recently provided by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey in a question-and-answer session at the National Press Club.

Mr. Humphrey made it clear at the outset that he doesn't claim to be able to see far into the future with accuracy. However, he found no reason "why anybody should anticipate any calamity or any great difficulty." He pointed out that production and employment are at the highest peaks we have ever known. At the same time, he recognized the fact that soft spots must inevitably appear. Then he made this observation: "The greatest thing that could happen to us in this country would be to have our industry at a time do a little readjusting in its own affairs and then be back again. The thing we don't want is to have everybody readjusting all at once. I see no reason why anybody should be alarmed about business conditions today. In fact, I am very encouraged about them and I am optimistic."

The Secretary was then asked if the Administration has plans to effect a recession should it appear. To this he replied with an emphatic yes, though he did not go into specific details as to what the plans involve. No Administration money available to its committees by authorizing them to spend from its "contingent fund"—a sum replenished from year to year by appropriations from the U. S. Treasury.

Under the contingent fund procedure, only the chamber conducting the investigation has to approve the spending. A regular appropriation, such as one adding new money to the contingent fund, must be approved by both House and Senate and signed by the President.

Washington observers are saying that the relations between the administration and organized labor, very tense since the resignation of Martin Durkin from the President's cabinet, have not been helped by Vice President Nixon's recent speech at the A.F.L. convention in St. Louis.

Vice President Nixon admittedly had a difficult job of explaining the administration's viewpoint concerning the 19 amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act which Durkin said the President talked to act on after promising to do so. His explanation was unacceptable to the convention delegates and as a result Mr. Durkin's accusation of broken agreement took on a great deal more substance.

The Wall Street Journal in a special report from the convention said that one delegate, who was affirmed to be actually a Republican, is quoted as having said of the Vice President: "With him you got to have an egg. He laid it."

enterprise system will carry on within a higher and higher living standards, whereas a government

The LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

This Mr. "Satchel" Paige, the colored boy who has made good—and for years—out there on the diamond expounds wisdom when he says, "Never look back—something might be gaining on you." He knows you would be losing time—also getting that much older. He knows without looking that there is nothing back there that we could be too powerful proud of—seeing as how everybody is hurrying from where he is not—seeking something.

If we are in confusion—with political alibis abounding—with socialism ensconced behind many power house switchboards—with too few people definitely happy—with courtesy on the wing—with an overdose of small fry delinquency, it is time for the school bell to ring out and not just for the 6 to 21 class. Schooling does not need take place in a school house. Take Ramones there at Memphis on the Nile—not the Mississippi—back around 1800 B. C. and even before, and all down the line via AEsop and Gallileo, the astronomer—they were not green peas. There were no school houses, but big ideas came from these gentlemen.

It is not exactly more schools that we need—it is more time to think. And once we stay home a night or 2 and start our pondering we will get help that something may be gaining on us and it could be bad—no good.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Maning, Iowa, Monitor: "There are a lot of controversial opinions advanced regarding the preaching of Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, but no one can question the truth of a statement he made recently when he said: 'A lot of youngsters have been raised in the past 20 years with the idea that government support is a normal thing for farmers to expect at all times. That kind of thinking can lead to socialism. We've got to get back to depending on ourselves in normal times.'"

Mountain View, Calif., Daily Register: "At least, the Eisenhower regime is making the first real effort in the past two decades to curb reckless spending. It is also endeavoring to establish integrity and a sense of responsibility in government. Neither is an easy task after the years of easy money and morals in Washington."

My PET PEEVE
By W. Scott Boyd

ITS football time again and as usual I have my troubles. My wife insists on going to every game, but like driving an automobile she won't learn what it's all about.

This is a short report of our conversation during the first game: "What are they doing down on their knees?" says she. "Digging in for a goal line stand," says I.

"I don't see how they can dig in without shovels or something, and I know they are allowed. Stop your kidding. What are they doing, honey?"

"Just be still, sweetheart," says I, "and let me watch the game WITHOUT A LOT OF STUPID QUESTIONS."

"So I'm stupid now, am I?" she turns to her friend on her right. "Isn't that just like a man. I'm just because I ask a simple question I'm stupid."

"I wouldn't stand for it," says Liz. "Please," says I, "with you two shut up and let Harry and me watch the game."

"HARRY," Liz shouted, "all him. He told me to shut up." Harry shrugged. "With I had had the nerve to do it myself years ago."

"Oh! Liz blazed. 'Look at my and say that.'"

"We can't say I. 'We're watching the game.'"

"You stay out of this," says the wife, "this fight is between Liz and Harry."

"O. K.," says I. "That suits me." There follows a lot of yakyak. I can't concentrate on the game and the two women. So I surrendered. "O. K. What do you want to know, honey?"

"What?" says she. "Are they doing down on their knees?"

"DIGGING IN FOR A GOAL LINE STAND!"

DETHRONED

Q—Will Congress go back to Washington for a special session this Fall?

A—Not according to Speaker of the House of Representatives Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R. Mass.). Martin said Sept. 9 in Washington he was certain there would be no extra session. Earlier talk of a special session, Martin noted, was based on the administration's feeling that Congress would have to boost the national debt limit before the end of the year; however, fiscal experts have indicated the statutory debt limit would not be reached this year.

Q—Are there any White House staff members whose specific duties are liaison with Congress?

A—Yes, there are. The President shuffled his staff just recently to improve liaison with Congress. The White House Sept. 4 announced the appointment of Jack Martin, assistant to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R. Ohio) and the promotion of Gerald D. Morgan to the post of administrative assistant. Both will have liaison duties. They will be assisted by Homer H. Gruenther and Bryce N. Harlow, according to the White House.

Q—Has the government done anything about the split challenging the Constitutionality of the "Hillside" law?

A—The Justice Department filed a motion Sept. 8 in a U. S. District Court asking for dismissal of the challenge to the Submerged (Tidal) Lands Act which became law this year. The Department contended that the U. S. government cannot be sued in this type of case without its consent, given by act of Congress.

Q—Why did Sen. Holla of Florida refuse to go to the Chicago Democratic rally Sept. 14-15?

A—Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D. Fla.) said he thought the South had nothing to gain by attending the rally. He said he found no tangible signs that the Democratic Party leadership had changed its views on issues that cost the 1952 Presidential candidate, Adlai E. Stevenson, 57 electoral votes in four southern states.

Q—The Democratic Congressman from my district told me the other day that the Republicans are undermining Civil Service by taking away job protection and opening positions to patronage appointments by calling them "policy-making jobs." How many federal jobs have lost tenure protection in this way?

A—From April 1, when President Eisenhower ordered the transfer of some jobs from protected to unprotected status, until Aug. 26, a total of 527 positions were placed in Schedule C—the policy-making category. The Civil Service Commission rejected 627 additional requests for transfer.

Q—Sen. John M. Butler (R. Md.) complained recently that veterans of the armed forces are not getting the employment breaks they should in the federal government. What proportion of federal civilian employees are veterans?

A—Latest figures (for March) show that 46 per cent of the federal government's civilian employees throughout the world are veterans. In the continental U. S., 1,072,412 male veterans work for the government, constituting 61 per cent of the domestic federal payroll. In addition, 47,772 women employees—eight per cent of all women in federal service—enjoy veterans' status; either as veterans themselves or as wives or widows of veterans.

Q—Which members of the cabinet have served in Congress?

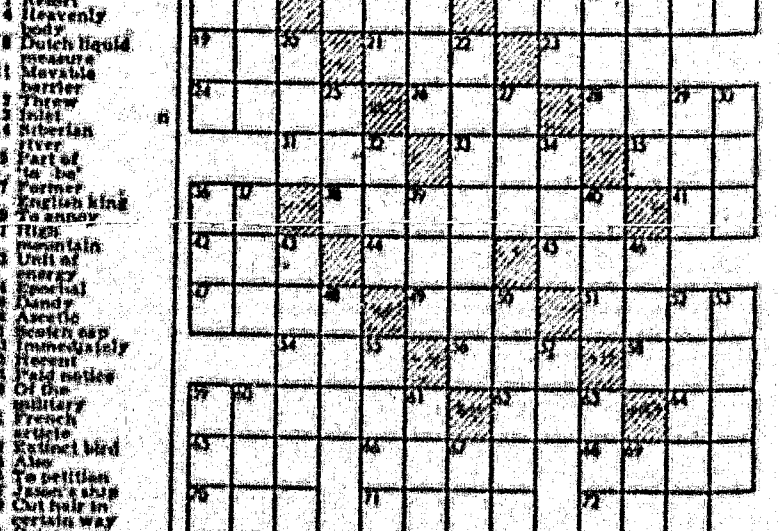

A—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks (both Republicans), each served less than a year in the Senate under appointments to seats vacated in mid-term. Dulles represented New York, Weeks Massachusetts.

Q—What happens to fields prepared for wheat seeding before acreage allotments and marketing quotas were put into effect?

A—Wheat farmers in designated areas may apply for permission to plant the winter wheat in excess of their allotments provided they do not let it mature, but instead use it for pasture, hay, silage, or cover crop purposes to combat wind erosion.

BRYANT POND

— Mrs. Edith C. Abbott, Corres. —
Garden Club

The Bryant Pond Garden Club met at the home of Nellie Bowker, Lakeside Drive, Thursday afternoon with an attendance of 18 members and one guest. It was voted to have a sale of Christmas greens on Dec. 10, and to meet Monday, Dec. 7, to make wreaths and sprays. The committee appointed for the sale was Mrs. Adelynn Mann, chairman, assisted by members of the executive committee. Bird chairman Florence Bean reported seeing the plicated woodpecker. Mrs. John Tebbets gave an excellent report on the Flower Show Judging School which she attended at Portland in September. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Etta Day, Miss Mary Bartlett and Mrs. Anne Jordan. Mrs. Esther Dunlap will be the hostess at the next meeting, Nov. 12, with Mrs. Gertrude Davis in charge of the program, on house plants.

Scout News

Monday night, Oct. 5, the Senior Girl Scouts attended the boys' Court of Honor at West Paris. The girls will hold their Court of Honor here in November. At the program, Bruce Tyler gave a talk on "Life at Camp Blinds," and James Todd, West Paris, described the mountain climb at Mt. Blue. Bryant Pond Scouts receiving badges were: Stanley Whitman, Tenderfoot; Michael Hathaway, 2nd class; Jack Allen, 2nd class and three merit badges; Wayne Tyler, 2nd class and 1st class and two merit badges; Bruce Tyler, life badge and three merit badges. Games and contests were conducted by Rev. Earle Dolphin after the meeting. The Intermediate Girl Scouts held a meeting at the Town Hall Thursday afternoon. A member of the Senior Troop, Kaye Ring, assisted the leader, Mrs. Barbara Tyler, with the work, which was making Girl Scout emblems for needle cases. Caroline Poland joined the group as a new member. The girls are working for their Good Grooming badges.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Bucknam, Hollywood, Calif., are the guests of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dudley.

Mrs. John DeHart, Bloomfield, N. J., was the guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jordan. On her return Friday, she was accompanied to Portland by Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Etta Day, Miss Mary Bartlett and Mrs. Nellie Bowker, who spent the day there.

Thursday, October 15

The Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee. (Isaiah 41:13). Read Psalm 121 or John 3:14-17.

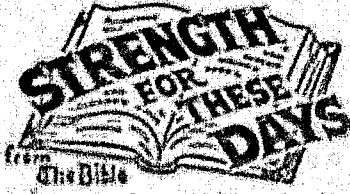

When called to the United States Army and sent to a training camp it seemed at first as if I were in a desert, away from the world and friends. Then I started to think of the past and realized that I was not alone; for the Lord who had been holding my hand since I was a little child, the One whose love and truth had been taught to me over the years, was still with me. When I left that camp, the Lord was still with me to guide me.

With Christ, we can face any test and have nothing to fear. Has not the Lord said, "Be not afraid of them that kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell?" By holding on to Christ, who assures to those who believe in him the blessing of redemption, we have nothing to fear.

Prayer
O Lord, we would live this day close to Thee. May we hear Thy voice so full of comforting love. Guide us through this life, and bring us at last to be at home with Thee in the house of many mansions, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thought for the Day
Redemption through Christ is God's greatest gift of love. —Eliaser Patrana (Puerto Rico)

MAYOR MCGUP By John Jarvis

PEGGY LEE recently told a columnist what she thinks about while singing "Lover" . . . "Miles and miles of sand . . . Then suddenly a group of Foreign Legionnaires gallop into view . . . But they never reach me" . . . After 43 years, Violinist Mischa Elman's contract with RCA Victor expired . . . Fifty years ago, he was a child prodigy.

PLATTY CHATTER
COLUMBIA: Percy Faith comes up with a fine instrumental arrangement of "Elaine" . . . Back has "Rosa Marie," not to be confused with the operetta tune, "Rosemarie" . . . Champ Butler does a creditable job on "Ya Ha Bibili Baby" . . . Back has "It Happened Once Before" . . . Jimmy Boyd and Frankie Laine team up again in a real cutie, "Let's Go Fishin'" . . . "Poor Little Piggy Bank" is on the flip side . . . Sammy Kaye comes up with a beautiful new ballad, "In the Mission of St. Augustine" . . . "No Stone Unturned" backs it.

Continuing on Columbia, Andre Kostelanetz does his usual polished job on "Time On My Hands" with "Playing Around" on the reverse . . . Morton Gould does a super job, too, on "Muscle Box Tango" and "Wedding Dance" . . . A good pop that should hit big is "Rags to Riches" and it's very well done by Tony Bennett . . . It's backed by "Here Comes That Heartache Again."

CAPITOL: Dean Martin's latest is "Don't You Remember" with a rare sound these days—a saxophone slap-tongued throughout . . . Reverse has "If I Could Sing Like Bing" . . . Ferlin Husky does well with a ditty called "How Much Are You Mine" . . . Flipover has "You'll Die a Thousand Deaths" . . . Boots Woodall pops up "It Might Have Been" . . . Leon Haynes does an instrumental in the "Sister Sue Polka" . . . Reverse has "If I Tock the Time" . . . Both tunes were written by versatile Leon.

Maine potatoes need not be fatening. It's the butter, gravy, or other fats that we put on them that pile up the calories, explains Dr. Kathryn Briwa, Maine Extension Service foods specialist.

Make Your Brownies Double Hitters

These brownies will make a double hit indeed, for they're rich and chocolatey on the bottom while the top has coconut deliciously baked right into the batter. An old favorite with a different twist, these Double-Hitter Brownies are a project that little Brownies would willingly work on—with mother's guiding hands.

DOUBLE-HITTER BROWNIES

2/3 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1/3 cup melted butter or other shortening
1/3 cup shredded coconut
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating thoroughly. Add shortening and blend. Add flour. Turn one-fourth of batter into a small bowl. Add coconut and almond extract.

Add chocolate to remaining three-fourths of batter and spread evenly in a greased 8x8x2-inch pan.

Drop coconut batter by teaspoonsful over chocolate batter in pan; then spread carefully to form a thin, even layer. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 35 minutes, or until done. Cool in pan on cake rack. Cut in rectangles or squares. Makes about 2 dozen brownies.

The Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee. (Isaiah 41:13). Read Psalm 121 or John 1:14-17.

When called to the United States Army and sent to a training camp it seemed at first as if I were in a desert, away from the world and friends. Then I started to think of the past and realized that I was not alone for the Lord who had been holding my hand since I was a little child. The One whose love and truth had been taught to me over the years, was still with me. When I left that camp, the Lord was still with me to guide me.

With Christ, we can face any test and have nothing to fear. Has not the Lord said, "Be not afraid of them that kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell?"

By holding on to Christ, who assures to those who believe in him the blessing of redemption, we have nothing to fear.

Prayer
O Lord, we would live this day close to Thee. May we hear Thy voice so full of comforting love. Guide us through this life, and bring us at last to be at home with Thee in the house of many mansions, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thought for the Day
Redemption through Christ is God's greatest gift of love.

—Eusebio Pastrana (Puerto Rico)

...except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain. (Psalm 127:1)

We build our defenses strong—our armies, our fleets, the warplanes above the radar nets that sweep the skies. But if we as a people, as a nation, base our hopes for survival on material might alone and forever Almighty God, we will be defenseless indeed.

MAYOR MCGUP By John Jarvis

A MAN OF YOUR POSITION NEEDS A NEW CAR, MAYOR.

I'M GETTING A NEW ONE NEXT WEEK!

WHICH DO YOU PREFER—FABRIC OR LEATHER UPHOLSTERY?

LEATHER! FABRIC IS TOO EASY FOR YOU GUYS TO WIPE YOUR HANDS ON!

PEGGY LEE recently told a columnist what she thinks about while singing "Love". "Miles and miles of sand... Then suddenly a group of Foreign Legionnaires gallop into view... But they never reach me". After 43 years, Violinist Mischa Elman's contract with RCA Victor expired... Fifty years ago, he was a child prodigy.

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIA: Percy Faith comes up with a fine instrumental arrangement of "Elaine"... Back has "Rosa Marie", not to be confused with the operetta tune, "Rose Marie"... Champ Butler does a creditable job on "Ya Ya Bibili Baby"... Back has "It Happened Once Before"... Jimmy Boyd and Frankie Lane team up again in a real cutie, "Let's Go Fishin'"... "Poor Little Piggy Bank" is on the flip side... Sammy Kaye comes up with a beautiful new ballad, "In the Mission of St. Augustine"... "No Stone Unturned" backs it.

Continuing on Columbia, Andre Kostelanetz does his usual polished job on "Time On My Hands" with "Playing Around" on the reverse... Morton Gould does a super job, too, on "Music Box Tango" and "Wedding Dance"... A good pop that should hit big is "Hugs to Riches" and it's very well done by Tony Bennett... It's backed by "Here Comes That Heartache Again".

CAPITOL: Dean Martin's latest is "Don't You Remember" with a rare sound these days—a saxophone slap-tongued throughout... Reverse has "If I Could Sing Like Sing"... Felia Harker does well with a duet called "How Much Are You Worth"... Flipover has "You'll Die a Thousand Deaths"... Boals Wood's peeps up "I Might Have Been"... Leon Payne does an instrument in the "Sliver Sue Polka"... Reverse has "If I Took the Time"... Both tunes were written by versatile Leon.

Maine pointers need not be fatigued. It's the butter, gravy, or other fats that we put on them that pile up the calories, explains Dr. Kathryn Briggs, Maine Extension Service foods specialist.

Bethel CALSO Station

I heard a minister last evening that I wish could have talked to the whole town. There was no hell-fire and brimstone that you would expect from a man of his profession but he did base his talk on one item that appealed to me and that was enthusiasm. Belief in our country and what it stands for should be the basis of our lives but we have come to accept these things as a heritage rather than doing something about them and selling our country not only to ourselves but to others. This is a wonderful ideal to strive for and I would like to pass the thought on to those who did not get a privilege to hear the talk.

Hope you did not get caught the other night without anti-freeze as it sure felt cold and was a warning of what is coming. I have Prestone, Zerone and Zerex on hand just so you will be protected properly.

WATERFORD

Mrs. Kathleen O'Leary, Corres.

Columbus Day week end with the beautiful foliage and autumn weather found Waterford with many of our summer residents here to close their homes and say good bye. The Applins, Bea Pitts and her sister, Pearl Starbird, all from Massachusetts. Over at Col Farnsworth's his sisters were here from Washington, D. C.

Mr and Mrs Harold Pike and Mr and Mrs Walter Fillebrown enjoyed a ride through Pinkham Notch Sunday, and Tuesday Aline Stratford, Clara Relyea and Kay O'Leary motored to the Mountains. The Charles Fillebrown family were in Bethel Sunday where they purchased a Guernsey calf from the Stan-Lea Farm.

Seemed nice to enjoy church service Sunday back in our own Church. Dr Bull was the minister. Monday evening Georgia Brown, Mary Fillebrown, and Kay O'Leary attended the Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers District meeting at Leeds.

Col and Mrs Farnsworth are in Portland for a few days.

There will be a Pot Luck Circle Supper at the Wilkins House Friday evening October 23 at 6:30 for members and friends of the Circle. Social hour will follow.

Josephine Bailey spent the week end with her parents in Bridgton, visiting her aunt, Nellie Stone, on Saturday.

Mr and Mrs Frank Pike returned from Quebec City, Canada, where Mr Pike spent the summer with his race horses.

Kay O'Leary called on her aunt Mrs Grace Bickford one day last week.

Would you throw a lighted match or cigarette on your living room rug? Then why toss them into dry leaves along the roadside? Let's keep Maine Green.

2/3 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder

EVERY HIGHWAY IS "PASSABLE BUT DANGEROUS"

Such a warning is not alone for a road under construction or repair. It's any road—it's every road.

The "open road" is engineered for safety. Its curves, grades, over and under passes, and road markings are all designed for you to drive and live. But every road can be as safe or as dangerous as you and millions of other drivers make it. It's how you drive, how you respect road controls, speed limits, stop signs; how you think when you drive and how you use or misuse the courtesy of the road that determines the degree of safety or danger.

Since the end of the war, rural highway deaths have climbed until they account for three-quarters of the toll in dead and injured. In 1952, 28,200 deaths out of a total of 38,000!

Three of every four accidents occurred in clear weather on dry roads. Eighty percent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling straight ahead.

These are stark facts which put the terrific highway carnage straight up to the driver behind the wheel. A reckless, lawless attitude makes safe highways dangerous.

Ask yourself, honestly, "Am I a safe, or dangerous driver?"

SLOW DOWN—LIVES ARE IN YOUR HANDS!

WHEN you're season balls and want the distinctive flavor, try soups in milk before adding to the meat mixture.
Steak and onions, go but usually the onions. Why not try some baked delicious change? The fish onions can be creamed, or they can be before baking, to make pecanily elegant.

STORY OF MAINE WOODSMAN

TOLD IN POST THIS WEEK

The story of Charles Emerson Thornton the "magic woodsman" of Denison's remote camp on Dobs Lake in Maine is featured in the current (October 15th) issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

Author Edmund Ware Smith tells that he went to the lake twenty years ago to recover from a long illness and there first met Thornton, who had hired on as caretaker at Denison's.

"The camp and its extraordinary caretaker proved a healing combination," he writes, "If Pop Thornton didn't actually cure me, the unique medicine of his artfully contrived canoe trip lifted my heart and dispelled the gloom of slow convalescence, so that I heard my own laughter for the first time in months."

"And one tragic day, years later the year the little boy drowned—he did the same tender thing in the same gilded way for my two small children, and I heard their laugh again."

Smith says that Thornton is Pop to everyone who visited Denison's his caretaker. He is Pop to the young couples who honeymooned there, and to the families who came for summer vacations. He is Pop to the numberless children whom he taught and told so much, and who felt the radiation of his enchanted personality.

When Thornton came to Denison, it is reported, he brought with him his beloved and devoted wife, Kate, who died recently. His gleaming carpenter's tools, his woodman's skill so essential to the job. He also brought the strange, elusive element of his charm—the quicksilver imagination which has beguiled children and adults alike.

For several years, Pop, the third of seventeen children, has used his imagination as an instrument to "embellish life and battle hardship," the caption under his picture in the magazine says.

GOULD ACADEMY

GOULD TRAVELS TO LYNDON SATURDAY

On Saturday, Coach Scott will take his Husky squad to Lyndon Center, Vt., to tackle Lyndon Institute. Over the years Gould-Lyndon games have been close, hard-fought battles with usually one touchdown being the difference in score. Although undefeated Gould is going to have a tough time staying in that category unless the play of the line improves radically. Spiny and Merrill have now gotten back into shape after their opening game injuries which should help considerably.

The first cross country meet of the season was run at Fryeburg Academy on Friday, October 9, and resulted in a victory for Fryeburg. The score was Gould 26, Fryeburg 22.

At meetings held recently, the Freshman and Sophomore classes elected officers for 1953-1954 as follows:

GOULD 12-NORWAY 8

Before a large gathering of parents the Gould Academy eleven brought home its third victory in as many starts. Phil Rowe started Gould off in a hurry by taking the opening kickoff on the 15 yard line and galloping 35 yards to put in a lead they never relinquished. He was tackled on the goal line, however, and injured so he had to be taken from the game. His loss was keenly felt from there on.

Gould scored again on its second play of the second period, on a one-yard plunge by Burnham, who had already set up the score on a 10 yard end run on the last play of the opening stanza. Both extra points were missed and Gould led 12-0 at half-time.

During the third quarter, play was restricted to mid-field with Gould gaining two first downs to none for Norway. It was the final stanza that saw Norway put on a spirited drive. They run up 3 first downs to none for Gould and Another in a series of vocational talks was presented in assembly on Wednesday morning when Mrs. Vera Waterhouse spoke on the subject of "Nursing as a Vocation."

Mrs. Waterhouse traced the history of nursing from its humble beginning at the time of Florence Nightingale to the present time. Miss Nightingale's early efforts were not gracefully received at first and it was only after her work with the wounded on battlefields and in hospitals that she received the well deserved recognition, which launched the nursing profession to the high respect it enjoys today.

Mrs. Waterhouse outlined the three types of nursing preparation which are available to young women and young men. There is the practical nurse program which requires a period of training from one to one and a half years. School-astic requirements for admission to Schools of Practical Nursing vary greatly from a minimum of a grammar school education to a secondary school diploma. Graduates of this course work in hospitals under the supervision of registered nurses and care for patients who suffer from chronic diseases as a general rule.

The diploma nurse program is one which requires for admission a high school diploma in a course offering specific subject requirements for entrance. It is conducted by hospitals which maintain an instructional staff and have as a further prerequisite the successful completion of a Nursing Aptitude Test and a period of probation. Graduates of this course take the State Registry examination for their R. N.

The third type of preparation for nursing is the collegiate program which requires five years in most cases, although an attempt is now in progress to reduce this period to four years. The first two years are spent in the college or university where the student receives instruction in basic subjects. This is followed by two years in an affiliated hospital and a return to the university for the last year. Successful candidates receive a collegiate degree in addition to their R. N. Graduates of this type of program usually staff the Nursing Schools and the administrative positions in the large hospitals.

Mrs. Waterhouse emphasized that the profession of nursing enjoys high respect and the training is especially beneficial for young women. Although salaries are not high and sometimes out of proportion to the work involved, nurses enjoy security from the urgency and need for their services.

AUTUMN LEAVES

by Lena LaValley, Grade 7, Locke Mills

The leaves and needles are falling. And old Jack Frost is now calling. The snow will cover the leaves on the bottom.

This is not spring or summer, but autumn.

Bringing snow and cold weather to spare.

Freezing the ground it just isn't fair.

But this is the prettiest season of all.

You may call it autumn or call it fall.
